June 23, 2010

On Wednesday, June 23, 2010, I will hold Clay Camp for Grownups. We will focus on basic handbuilding techniques and beginner tips for working with clay. Each of you will be encouraged to make pieces that will be fired and later glazed, to grace your home! We will concentrate on 3 simple projects, but you can venture out on your own and make other things too!

We will be meeting in my very tree shaded back yard adjacent to my pottery shed/studio. We will work from 9 a.m. until 4:30 on projects, with a short break at noon for lunch. Please bring a sack lunch, beverages will be provided.

We will work all day long and then the pieces will dry for over a week and I will fire them in my Skutt kiln. We will pick a date to meet again so that you can glaze your masterpieces, to prepare for a second glaze firing. The cost of the camp is $75 which includes your clay, all firings, and glazes.

Just fill out the bottom of the page, detach it, and send it by mail with a check. I will send you by e-mail a list of tools and any other details to make this a great summer event for all of us!
